

Amendments to the Abstract

Please add the following Abstract to this application.

--A method of watermarking digital media data in a user device using a watermark that contains information derived from the digital media data content and the user device specific information to enable improved enforcement of the digital media data content copyright license. --